Kat's abstract creations are inspired mainly by shapes and patterns found in nature. Based on adding and subtracting color, layering and glazing, scratching and sanding, the joy and excitement of her painting process is expressed in colorful, inventive techniques using acrylics, watercolor, graphite, colored pencil, crayon and marker.

An illustrative style for her pet portraits developed through her career as a graphic designer. The pets are hand-sketched using a photo as reference. Then the drawing is scanned into Adobe Illustrator where the refined shapes are filled with flat colors to create a "paint-by-number" look—but always contain a clever or humorous twist.

Kat's imaginative landscapes come from her love of growing up in the Iowa countryside evoking a tranquil and simpler time and sustaining her artistic passion for making beautiful things.

No matter what medium or technique she chooses, her love of drawing shines through.
