My passions lie in the minute and often unobserved happenings of the natural world all around us. As our fast-paced and technological lives march on, so are the lives of the plants, insects, and animals around us modifying, adapting, and seeking to flourish in an ever-changing environment. I craft animalistic ceramic sculpture that is elegant, functional, and possessing a charismatic personality all it's own. Combining wheel-thrown elements with slabs, coils, and other hand-sculpted components is my technical joy. I love nothing more than to texture, stretch, slump, and drop my thrown pots for a unique, personal touch. No two people or animals are exactly alike, and neither are my pots
